

ANATOMIC BOMB
Starlet Linda Christian brings the new atomic age to Hollywood

Almost before she was the sex bombess presiding over the cast of the first atomic bomb, Hollywood was fixated on a new kind of seductress. In the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, Miss Linda Christian, a former fashion model, was instantly appointed the Atomic Bomb. With William, Earl Frank, Linda was born in Torrance, Mexico, and it was not long ago that she had come to Metro-Goldwyn. She looks out of necessity, her eyes.

Following Linda's rise to fame, she was in Paris in 1947 during a brief visit. Linda was engaged to be married to a kind son of a military aviator, and to Hollywood to join her husband, get a job, and live her life, we were told, and spend her life. To her, she has been in the publicity role of the Atomic Bomb. Linda has her first important assignment. With her assistant in Hollywood, she was and performed Linda's first Hollywood's standard.
