The "Influences" section of this site uses a number of images collected over the years from various blogs, forums and fan-sites. These images are here purely for informational purposes to illustrate and acknowledge some of our influences. However if you are the copyright owner of an image and can prove it, and would like the image removed from the site, then please contact us via the contact form and we will remove them ASAP. Alternatively if you would simply prefer a hyperlink back to your site, then give us the URL and we can do that instead.
